

Challenges Faced When Evangelizing

LET'S GET ENERGIZED ABOUT EVANGELIZM!

Evangelism is a challenge! It is a work that is not easy or glamorous, but it is an important work. It would be so much easier if everyone who heard the gospel would simply obey it. There are so many factors which exist that keep people from obeying the gospel. What are some of those challenges which we face when doing evangelistic work?

1. Challenge of overcoming the world. The world has such a hold on its inhabitants that the inhabitants of the world believe there is no impending danger. The world is blinded from the truth of the gospel because the god of this world has blinded them (2 Cor. 4:4). This may be a challenge for us, but John stated greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world (1 John 4:4).

2. Challenge of distraction. We live in a world filled with distractions. Individuals are having trouble driving on the roads because they are distracted by their phones and devices. People rarely have time for anything because of "binge watching" an entire season of television series in one sitting, on multiple nights and days. Distractions may sometimes keep people from engaging in spiritual activities. Since the world is so distracted, it does not recognize the need for God.

3. Challenge of denominationalism. Denominations have denominated the name that was nominated by God. They have taken something that was supposed to be singular and divided the singular into many different segments. Denominationalism is a challenge because everyone thinks they are right. It is a challenge to convince someone about being in the wrong body when their belief is they are in the right body. It can be a challenge but the word of God can overcome this, and all challenges.

4. Challenge of Atheism. Atheists are those who are against God. Through their deceitful and circular arguments, they try to convince others that the God of the Bible does not exist. This can become a challenge because it seems as though their circular arguments have no answer to them. We have available to us, great brotherhood publications who spend their time defending and answering these circular statements and arguments with the word of God and logic.

These are just a few challenges we may face as Christians, but through study, prayer, and practice, we can overcome any challenge faced before us.

- K.A. Pugh